Renewable Water Resources Participates in City of Greenville's Businesses in Action Conference

Greenville, S.C. (May 27, 2010) – Renewable Water Resources (ReWa) is sponsoring a booth at the City of Greenville's Business in Action Conference on May 27, featuring its Fats, Oils & Grease (FOG) educational awareness program.

The Businesses in Action Conference is a one-day comprehensive conference to provide businesses, institutions, nonprofits and organizations with innovative and cost effective ways to go green. The purpose of this conference is to educate the community how to conserve resources, save energy and how to do its part in protecting South Carolina's environment.

The variety of panels and sessions include information on waste reduction and recycling, green cleaning, green landscaping and site design, green building, carbon footprinting and green marketing, as well as green services and utility conservation. The conference features green vendors and service providers.

Renewable Water Resources (ReWa)

ReWa's goal is to promote a cleaner environment, and to protect the public health and water quality of the Upstate waterways, while providing and developing the necessary sewer infrastructure for the growing economy. ReWa serves more than 400,000 industrial, commercial and residential customers in Greenville County and parts of Anderson, Spartanburg, Pickens and Laurens Counties.
